MANAGEMENT SUMMARY

Spring continues to heat up, and May brings with it a perfect storm for algae growth. Temperature and humidity are both increasing. Extended daylight means more growing time, leading to increased growth of both algae and nuisance grasses. The lack of rainfall to flush nutrients out of the pond compounds the issue; since the shallow, stagnant water conditions are perfect for algal growth. Upkeep in the ponds will increase during this time, as residents will notice an increase in the growth of all vegetative and algal matter.

It is important to note that we have entered into one of the worst times of the year for pond aesthetics. The 35-day forecast shows not a single drop of rain; and daily highs will be exceeding the mid 90s relatively soon. Seasonal algal blooms are upon us, and growth can flare up on a single day given the right conditions.

Technicians on-site are currently providing both reactive and proactive treatment to the growth. If any algal activity is found to be actively growing around the shoreline and shallow areas it is immediately targeted with algaecides. Ponds which historically (in our experience) produce algal activity are pre-treated with algaecides even if none are present in an effort to get ahead of the growth.

At the time of this report, most ponds were in excellent or great condition. Some of the ponds featured some form of algal matter. Which is consistent with current conditions. Proceeding treatments will continue to combat any new growth that pops up between visits, as the growing season is upon us.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Continue to treat ponds for algae, administer follow-ups to ponds experiencing extended decay times.

Administer treatments to any nuisance grasses growing along exposed shorelines and within beneficial plants.

Continue to apply treatment to overgrown littoral areas.

Avoid over treating ponds, to prevent fish kills or toxic blooms.

Stay alert for debris items that find their way to the pond's shore.

SPRING CONDITION REPORT

Sporadic algae blooms and explosive growth during dry spring conditions.

With Spring in full swing, and as we approach Summer, increasingly warm temperatures are on the way. Most daily high temperatures this week were in the high 80's. Meanwhile, rainfall has been minimal to none which contributes to decreased water levels and increased water temperatures. Residents may notice sporadic algae blooms and explosive growth during this time. This is a direct result of lack of rain and increased ambient temperatures. A stark contrast to the relatively stable conditions of the previous rainy months.

Contributions to algal activity include excess nutrients from fertilizers & grass clippings, stormwater runoff, and lack of water movement between rainfall events. These nutrients, in addition to the abundant Florida sunshine, increased humidity, and high daytime temperatures, allow algae to rapidly take over suitable water bodies.

Blooms may take the form of water tinted green with cloudy planktonic algae, rough patches of surface filamentous algae, or paint-like cyanobacterial slicks on the water's surface.

Algal blooms are unique to each pond and are dependent on several factors. Aspects such as a pond's dimensions, the volume of flow entering the pond, and the proximity of adjacent wetlands for water to drain into. All these factors affect a pond's nutrient density; the fuel for algal blooms.

Full spectrum Copper Sulfate treatments are in effect in response to these seasonal algal blooms. Under normal conditions, most species of algae decompose fully in 7-10 days following a treatment date. However, in drier conditions (like those we are experiencing now) with no wind or rain to assist in breakup of the algae as it dissolves, decay times will be extended.

Across the majority of ponds, we are seeing signs of having intercepted blooms, curtailing them before they get out of hand. In other ponds whose construction lends to high nutrient retention, this will be a cyclical battle against the algal growth until fresh rains once again bring relief, or until we see a reduction in growth rates during the onset of Fall, where many nutrients will have time to settle and get locked away.

While regular follow up treatments are administered to combat fresh growth, it can be difficult to prevent algae from flaring up between visits. Routine treatments will continue to dispel them as they establish.

Aquatics Maintenance

Pond Management: The water levels are still lower than wanted, this does continue to allow the pond vendor to continue mitigation of unwanted vegetation and trash removal. Hopefully we will get some rain and return the ponds to a healthy level. Please see vendors report.

Sidewalks and Roadways

Power washing: I was hoping to have the CDD asset bid in for power washing, he is still a few days out, this is a busy time of year for those vendors. That will be sent to District manager as soon as it comes in.

Sidewalks are still in need of repairs, waiting for response from last email inquiry.

See photo of damaged plastic road sticks, I will have those addressed.

Tim with Bluewave is still repairing the nonfunctional lights and doing repairs. I have asked him to keep me posted thru the process, he is working on a new proposal to have all the lighting to match.
